BIGGEST ELEPHANT EVER KILLED

SHOT BY A WOMAN.

"THE HUGE ELEPHANT SANK ON HIS KNEES, DEAD"

MRS. CARL E. AKELEY

THE chief taxidermist of the Field Museum in Chicago has just completed the mounting of the stuffed skin of the largest elephant ever killed in the African jungle—a beast much larger than Jumbo, of circus fame, and having two perfect monster tusks more than seven feet in length.

But the most remarkable feature of this record elephant capture is the fact that it was stalked in the jungle and shot by a woman, and that woman the taxidermist's wife—Mrs. Carl E. Akeley. Further, Mrs. Akeley does not have to divide her honors with the members of any party of experienced masculine hunters of big game, nor was the huge beast found and driven into convenient ambush for her by native beaters. The exploit was all her own.

All this is quite amazing to friends of Mrs. Akeley, who know her only in her Chicago social circle, where she is a quiet, modest young woman, engrossed in the management of her home. They thought it strange that she would care to go with Professor Akeley's expedition to East Africa, which returned only a few weeks ago.

In the African jungle it appears that the quiet little woman went about the business of elephant hunting with the same deliberate system which characterizes her housekeeping. While other members of the expedition were making elaborate preparations one day to get within shooting range of a herd of about twenty of the great animals which had been sighted at some distance from camp, Mrs. Akeley slipped away unobserved into the jungle, carrying her two heavy express guns, which she had carefully loaded for the biggest game hunted by man.

After a tramp through tangles of underbrush she heard the giant beasts wading and splashing about in a forest pool. Carefully and silently she crept up against the wind, so that the animals could not scent her approach. When within one hundred yards of them she saw that the huge patriarch of the herd, an immense beast with great glistening tusks longer than the height of a tall man, presented a fair mark.

Placing one of her guns within easy reach, Mrs. Akeley raised the other and drew a bead

Everybody Made Love to Old Col. Snell.

How a Trunkful of Old Love Letters Found in the Dead Millionaire's Attic Strike Terror to the Hearts of Wives, Daughters and Young Brides.

The lack of a signature to these letters does not appear to have saved their revered writer for the Rev. S. H. Wallace, Presiding Elder of that district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, identifies their handwriting as that of the Rev. E. A. Hamilton, of Newman, Ill.

After the explosion of the scandal, efforts to locate the Rev. Mr. Hamilton and his wife failed. They had left their home for some destination not discoverable.

On the back of one of the letters alleged to have been written by the Rev. Hamilton is a note, in a woman's handwriting, which seems to prove that both wife and daughter were encouraged by the pastor to make financially profitable love to senile old Col. Snell.

"Do help me," says the note. "Darling, I write this on the back of my husband's letter. You must help me, darling. I will write you again and send it out at 7 P. M. I love you so dearly."

The pastor refers to his wife as "Laura."

WHY YOUR HANDS GROW OLD FASTER THAN YOUR FACE

HOW OLD ARE YOUR HANDS?

AND HOW TO KEEP THEM YOUNG AND UNWRINKLED.

1—AN EXERCISE FOR MAKING THE WRIST SUPPLE BY BENDING THE HAND AS FAR BACK AS POSSIBLE.

2—AN EXERCISE FOR BOTH HANDS AND WRISTS TO KEEP THEM SUPPLE. CROSS THE HANDS AND WRISTS AS IN THIS PICTURE AND EXERCISE WITH A SLOW BUT PERSISTENT SEE-SAW SORT OF MOTION—KEEP ON SEE SAWING.

WHAT is the age of your hands?

Seems an absurd question, doesn't it? But, as a matter of fact, the hands do not always keep pace with the years of their owner. Sometimes they are years in advance of the face, sometimes years behind it. Rarely, indeed, do they show their own apparent age. And it is not always the hands which show the most unnecessary contempt for the flight of time that are the most careful of your face.

And do you know that you can tell the age of a woman by her hands more surely than by her teeth or eyes or even by the yellow spots about her ears?

In truth, your hands are responsible for more than your face. They show the signs of age sooner, and in many cases more than the years of a complacent, young looking woman are believed by her observant eye by the secret age marks of those hands.

The European is a slow old fogy, and for that reason he is behind the times in this matter. Indeed, that is largely on this account, Indeed, that French women take more painstaking care of their hands but only according to their all the little attentions which some ladies of the head of manicuring, the employing the services of experts to manage them at the finest intervals. By such means the skin is kept smooth, and the flesh plump and firm, and young.

One of the first signs of advancing age in the hands is observed in a loss of their plumpness and firmness of flesh. Massage has a tendency to delay this process, which is due to a gradual flattening of the fat layer that immediately underlies the skin. As a result which one has notice in not person of advanced years—the skin becomes looser, and eventually, through shrinkage of the tissue, the fingers become shapeless.

The First Shrinkage of Fat

If you will take a close look at your own skin, especially at a place where it is loose, you will notice that it seems to be made up of small wrinkles, not altogether unlike the skin of a snake. There is, as a matter of fact, no little likeness of structure between the two, and on this account the outer skin of a human being is called by the anatomists the "cuticle" or scarf layer.

When you were a child this outer layer of your skin was so smooth that a photograph of yourself did not require any "touching" on the negative. To-day, however, the case would be different, because when very early youth has gone by the skin, no matter how good one's complexion may be, becomes rough and coarse of texture. This roughness is brought on with significant conspicuousness by the minute angular corners, and must be considered one of the "perks" of the picture is to be seen.

This is true of the skin of the hands, as well as of that of the face. Little by little, as the years pass, the skin of the hands seems to loosen with the shrinkage of the fat layer beneath, and fold and wrinkles. This appears usually before the face becomes wrinkled.

From the many evident symptoms of advancing age, losing their smoothness and tone and becoming visibly lined by little wrinkles running lengthwise.

It will easily be understood, then, how it is impossible to tell a woman's age with approximate accuracy by her hands. And many the case, it is very desirable that a woman should conceal her age if she can.

In order to accomplish this we must first take the best possible care of our hands and keep them young as long as possible, so to speak, as she would like. Massage is good for the purpose, especially if it be accompanied by the application of some such substance as cocoa butter (derived from the cocoa nut bean), which penetrates to some extent, lubricates the skin, and tends to plumpen the fat layer beneath. And there is always the manicure "at hand," so to speak, and the "beauty doctors," with their professions and treatments; also your family physician, who can tell you some facts about keeping your hands young.

And now that the arms are no longer to be covered with the arrival of the long sleeves, the hand, strange as it may sound, is suddenly come into far greater prominence than ever. At the first one would think this would not be so, and middle life would not be considerable. If one has the length of sleeve one would use, of course, a girl will sometimes put up with [illegible] part the hand of many [illegible] lay no such distinction [illegible] soul. The hand emerges [illegible] sleeve as dark sleeve is [illegible] then when it appears [illegible] to the elbow.

And the little disagreeable [illegible] fatalistic telltales of the age [illegible] will be more distinctly [illegible] ever in evidence.

The pervading and [illegible] some more quickly than [illegible] and slicing over her [illegible] The hand should be treated [illegible] as carefully as you would [illegible] skin. If you hear that exercise [illegible] can hope to have a beautiful hand [illegible] old age.

Try to cultivate repose [illegible] hands. There is a type of restless [illegible] days who is always picking [illegible] or fidgeting with her hands. [illegible] have long, restful looking hands [illegible] and fidgeting with the fingers ages the hands just as eternally pressing and fidgeting and worrying wrinkle and sag the face.

Wear loose gloves outdoors; loose gloves indoors, whenever you are doing any rough or dirty work. Never mind that you notice. No many women with garden without gloves on in my street or near a flower bed.

Work and toil not unnecessarily under age the hands. You may lead an active, energetic life, and not injure [illegible] hands, but even in domestic duties of every sort you should take careful care. For instance, try never to stretch your hand by carrying more than you conveniently can, or doing many errands. Avoid heavy weights, of course, which we are powerless to avoid such work, but when possible think of your hands. The grandmothers would not toil, golf was unheard of, and fine ladies would not even carry their prayer books to church for fear of ruining their hands. In the eighteenth century pages were employed to open doors and hand books, etc., to save their mistresses' fine, delicate hands and keep them always fresh pink and white and young.

As to the natural beauty of the hand, indubitably more so no denying that, being handling tools, if indeed, as they say, three generations is make a gentleman, it certainly takes three or four generations of leisure to produce the perfect aristocratic hand comely and artistic one, but will stave off its ageing manifestations.

When Finger Nails Begin to Get Old.

To sum up the whole position: Soap (good water, never cold, never hot, but tepid), water hard, never cold, never hot, but tepid and soften all kinds of water with it is impracticable as a luxury, use [illegible] can find a excellent substitute in soft oil [illegible] and [illegible] to the water, and rubbed in at least twice a day. If the hands are stained a very little borax or ammonia may be added to the water, but [illegible] is not be persuaded ever to wear gloves at night. Skin foods must also be used in the right one to need, do not try to [illegible] you can do no harm [illegible] tated gloves are quite unnecessary.

The [illegible] of glycerine [illegible] wonderful. It is a good old-fashioned remedy for roughness and hands, handed down from our mothers and grandmothers, to [illegible] is to [illegible] for the skin. It makes [illegible] grow freely, and [illegible] in time the texture. If, however, it must be used [illegible] prescription will make it [illegible] effective:

Glycerine.....½ drachms
Borax.....½ drachms
The yolk of one egg.

Mix [illegible] thoroughly all together, and then apply daily to the entire hand and wrist, especially round the knuckles and nails. Wipe off with a soft rag.

The [illegible] it has been said, grow old [illegible] same time the face. But the same thing [illegible] true of the feet. The latter exhibit [illegible] there are rules of age, which are quite as [illegible] as [illegible]. A young woman's shoes, if she were to try to wear the same pair in middle life, would not be comfortable. Of course, a girl will sometimes put up with [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

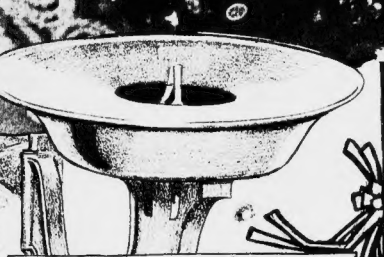
Mme. Calve, Who Had the Most Expensive Tooth-ache on Record.

Miss Joan Schon, Mme. Calve's Massage Expert.



The Silent Witnesses in the Case.

THE [illegible]
The honorable American [illegible]
New York, city most dear to [illegible] version of vernacular.

On one side of the [illegible] smiling, as is fitting, because the question concerns a dentist's bill. Representing [illegible] Miss Joan Schon, who, speaking for [illegible] dies, declares in open court that the dentist overcharged her employer, when she [illegible] services as "the most illustrious woman [illegible] ever came to America."

On the other side is the [illegible] Allison W. Harlan, a fashionable fifth [illegible] erous practitioner, both medical and dental physician, who says that his bill of $900, that would pay for twenty-two sets of false teeth, enough to last Mme. Calvé and all her family for the natural term of their lives, is "reasonable for the work Mme. Calvé had done."

What that work was Dr. Harlan refuses to state. He said to reveal these secrets of his operating room would not be professional. Miss Schon, speaking for Mme. Calvé, said that the charge was simply monstrous, as imposition. Both have made their statements directly out of court and indirectly in it.

The quarrel grew out of Miss Schon's claim for her commission, which, she said, she was promised her should be a third of the amount of bill. She sued for three hundred dollars, asserting that she would give it all back to Mme. Calvé because she had been imposed upon.

Twice in the lower courts William C. Wolf, the attorney for Miss Schon, has secured a verdict for the three hundred dollars for Miss Schon.

Dr. Harlan has appealed the case, asserting that he never promised any commission to Miss Schon for securing Mme. Calvé as a patient. He says to promise such a commission would be unprofessional, and that to pay it would cause him to be ostracised from the dental societies to which he belongs.

Miss Schon, who is [illegible] masseuse, [illegible] met with Mme. Calvé in Mexico. She says that last Summer Dr. Harlan called on Mme. Calvé in Paris, when the prima donna bitterly upbraided him for his $900 bill.

Will the Appellate Court believe the lady or the doctor when the contradictory [illegible] swing testimony, which has already been twice heard in the lower courts, is submitted to it?

And this the sworn testimony of Miss Joan Schon, the plaintiff, in her suit to make Dr. Harlan pay her $900 commission for bringing Mme. Calvé and her $900 tooth ache to him for treatment.

Direct examination by plaintiff's counsel:

NIGHT AND DAY STUDYING CROCODILES

FROM STEREOGRAPH, COPYRIGHT, BY UNDERWOOD AND UNDERWOOD, NEW YORK

Prof. Koch Living With Crocodiles On a Lonely Island to Prove They Are the Real Cause of a Horrible Disease.

PROFESSOR ROBERT KOCH, the most famous of German medical scientists, is living on a lonely island in the heart of equatorial Africa in order to be in the midst of crocodiles.

He has chosen one of the Sese Islands in Lake Victoria Nyanza as his dwelling place, because it is the most crocodile infested region in the world. Here these hideous and bloodthirsty reptiles are commoner than gudgeon on a Western prairie. The reason why they flourish so greatly in this neighborhood is because there is an abundance of game upon the islands and banks of the great lake. The crocodiles lie in wait in the shallow water near the shore and when the deer, antelopes, goats and other sacrificial small animals come down to drink in the evening the reptiles thrust their long jaws out of the water and snap up the innocent little creatures.

It is a beautiful and awe-inspiring sight when the brilliant tropical moon is at the full. The vast expanse of fresh water also looks fine in the moonlight, and the ground is covered with a dense equatorial forest and along the shore a curious drama is enacted. FIGHTING THE PAST

We Don't ALWAYS REALIZE IT. But That Is the Hardest Fight With Every One of Us. A Thousand Characters, Weaknesses, Appetites and Passions Stand Behind Us in Our Ancestry and Pull Us Back

YOU are in this picture, reader. You are the man pulling at the chains that hold him, or you are a woman pulling at other chains of the same kind.

All of us are TIED TO OUR ANCESTORS. Every one of us represents a combination of MILLIONS OF HUMAN BEINGS. In this country the majority is made up of different races, different religious beliefs, different geographical impressions — all stamped upon our forefathers centuries before we were born, BUT STILL ALIVE WITHIN OUR CONSCIOUSNESS.

It is well for men and women to realize of what they consist. It is a good thing to study yourself, as you study the child playing on the floor. The father and mother are interested to see in their child their own characters gradually developing. How easily they identify the mother's happy character, the father's sternness, the hot temper—the characteristics of both parents, real or imaginary.

Such an analysis is brilliantly made by Goethe, his famous verses describing what he inherited from his father and from his mother. Studying the child upon the floor you identify only two human beings, father and mother. You should study yourself, realizing with interest and with profit the fact that your life struggle is to COMBINE, DOMINATE AND UTILIZE the characteristics that immemorable ancestors have handed down to you.

* * *

A very particular favorite study of mankind IS HIMSELF. We shall not offend the average citizen by concentrating his own attention upon himself.

Have you ever seriously considered how many human beings are mixed up in your brain, in your temper, in your love of money or indifference to it, in your regular habits, or your hopeless procrastination?

You have two parents. Four grandparents.

Eight great-grandparents.

Sixteen great-great-grandparents.

Go only six generations back of that and you find that one thousand and twenty-four human beings, five hundred and six men and five hundred and six women, are represented in your mental and physical make-up.

That is a pretty big crowd, and if you go ONE step farther back you find that they in turn were the product of two thousand and forty-eight human beings, AND ALL OF THOSE ARE REPRESENTED IN YOU.

* * *

The collection of ancestors standing behind you in this picture is no exaggeration—far from it. There is not living a man without some criminal in his ancestry—a criminal detected or not detected, but a criminal. There does not live a man who has not had in his ancestry excessive drinking, excessive gambling, courage, cowardice, loyalty, hypocrisy.

Everything has been mixed up in every man, for every man numbers his direct ancestors by tens and hundreds of thousands.

Do not imagine that those far back are EXTINCT, or that they play no important part in the living man or woman of to-day. They make up ninety-nine one-hundredths of to-day's man. The last five generations or ten generations of the last HUNDRED GENERATIONS have not made the man of to-day. They have changed him a little on the surface. They have developed certain parts of his brain, pressing down certain animal emotions, lifting up certain sentiments and aspirations. But the real man who crawled on his hands and knees out of the cave thirty thousand years ago IS STILL ALIVE IN US TO-DAY.

If you go to a prize fight, doubtfully, reluctantly, and find yourself suddenly full of brutal excitement, you must realize that your brain is then in the possession of men that watched fights and death and the shedding of blood for amusement centuries ago.

You go out to shoot some foolish rabbit, with a pretty, ridiculous, neatly varnished gun. If your heart beats when you see the tracks in the snow, if your hand shakes so that you can't hit the rabbit, you can be positive that the emotion controlling you is the emotion which guided your grandfather ten thousand or fifteen thousand years or more back, when, with his sharpened stone on the end of a stick, he followed painfully the wounded animal, whose death was necessary to his life and the life of his savage wife and children back under the rocks.

* * *

If you are led into some gambling enterprise and lose a great deal more than you can afford, do you suppose that that foolishness in your brain is the creation of to-day? Not at all. It comes from your gambling ancestry, from some old lady who played cards for high stakes, as her mother, and her grandmother, and great-grandmother did before her or from some gambling men back among your ancestors. You may never have gambled to speak of, the temptation comes suddenly, and you go to pieces in true gambler fashion. You have neglected to realize that an emotion coming up in the mind is very apt to overwhelm you, because YOU ARE ONLY ONE, AND THOSE WHO BUILT UP THAT EMOTION MAY BE LINED UP TEN THOUSAND DEEP BEHIND YOU.

* * *

Have you ever studied the mob spirit? You know that a quiet gathering of the good-hearted, law-abiding men can suddenly be seized by a frightful frenzy. Rushing out together, they will brutally murder a never-born alive some defenceless three against whom their brains are inflamed. When it is over the men shudder. They cannot hear as individuals to look at themselves in the glass. Yet banded together they have been like a pack of howling wolves, gnilty of a crime atrocity.

Do you see that is the work of to-day? Not at all. The mob is the direct inheritor of men hunting in packs and killing in packs, enjoying killing and brutality for its own sake, and deliberately entering into a frenzied condition, obliterating everything but the desire to kill.

When you see at some campmeeting a young girl or an old man hysterical with religious fervor, do you suppose that the extraordinary sensation is born AT THAT CAMP-MEETING? No — but many long centuries before it.

The terror of the winds and the lightning, belief in ghosts, born of dreams, adoration of the sun, adoration of evil, submission to the dictates of assumed superhuman authority, and finally reverence for Divine justice, based on higher conceptions of Divinity —all those things represented by thousands of ancestors are alive and undoubtedly active to the trembling, abject hysterical penitent at the camp-meeting. Many a religious, the intense fervor of the olden days, shake that tearful, almost unconscious being.

* * *

It is so throughout all our lives. Now this ancestor comes up, now that one, and now a mixture of others. There is a sudden reversion to one long dead and forgotten, but powerful to rule when conditions call for or permits his influence.

Study this picture for yourself, and study YOURSELF in the picture. Realize the interesting fact that a myriad of us is a combination of hundreds of thousands of human We are the result of a mixture that has gone on and on for hundreds of centuries and that will go on for thousands of centuries more, while the sun still warms our earth, and that will continue on this planet, as then on others for millions of centuries after this little earth will have turned away, grown up, or is destroyed to cool.

We are the product of resistance and addition, constant modification caused by mixture, constant change, AND ONE CAN rule. CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT. The race to-day is capable of things that the race a hundred years ago never dreamed of. The individual of to-day is capable of achievements that the man of fifty years back would have laughed at as child's suggestions.

* * *

All the ideas, all the discoveries of the past are our property, AND ALL THE MISTAKES OF THE PAST ARE OUR LESSONS.

We talk across the continent, we speak to ships at sea, we weigh planets and suns in infinite space, we go under the ocean, up in the air, through the ground. BUT WE CANNOT SHAKE OFF OR RID OURSELVES OF THOSE GRANDMOTHERS AND GRANDFATHERS WAY BACK THROUGH ALL THE AGES. They live in us. Each one of us has a brain of which the meanest of millions of cells are the residences of millions of humans that went about on us. It is well worth while to study them, to try at least to classify, if not to conquer them.

It is worth while to identify those old grandmothers and grandfathers as they come out in us, to see how we have inherited from them, to find a living grandfather, a dance-room manage, forever suggesting that it would be a good idea to set the house on fire, or trying to do it himself. YOU WOULD KEEP HIM TIED UP. If you had a hen-pecked, kind-hearted old grandmother, with plenty of good ideas, many benevolent and useful suggestions, you would let her go free and encourage her.

In the back of your head, one generation, two, ten or a thousand generations back, there are just such grandmothers and grandfathers.

Tie up the bad ones, encourage the good ones, and enjoy studying yourself in a useful way instead of in the usual way, which is far from useful.

The Majority Can Rule

And Some Day It Will Reassert Itself

If you have not read Charles Edward Russell's series of articles, "At the Throat of the Republic," in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, get the last three numbers and do so.

As an American citizen they will interest you. You can hardly fail to read them without finding that your indignation is aroused. And it is necessary for you, and for all Americans, to become angry before you will put an end to the frightful abuses of the ballot which Mr. Russell charges and proves beyond the shadow of a doubt.

Events taking place to-day are wearing the majority of the Republican party.

In the news columns of any daily paper you can read of the efforts of the predatory gentlemen who have the vote-mongering bosses to name the Republican candidate for the presidency. Those efforts will be successful.

When the candidate is named the work of electing him will be turned over to the bosses in the cities. The horrors so vividly described by Mr. Russell will be repeated. Your vote will be cancelled by that of some plug-ugly from another town, who may even vote in your name. Your part in the government will not be important in that event. But remember that you and other honest men are in the majority. Remember that, compared to your numbers, those of the electoral thugs are very small. While you remain a partisan you will have them or their bosses or the bosses of their bosses working ostensibly with you—really against you.

But do not take too gloomy a view of the situation. The facts set forth are sufficiently depressing, it must be admitted. When ballots are bought outright by professional criminals in the employ of criminal who profess to be leading citizens, when honest men are driven from the polls, when thugs and thieves are sent from one city to another to cast illegal votes, and when the colonization of repeaters is made a business, it is time that something was done.

But something CAN be done. If you begin NOW before the power of privilege is fastened on the country forever, this wretched traffic can be stopped.

It is appalling to read that sixty dead and illegal votes were cast in New York city in one election and that those frauds are repeated in varying degrees in every other important city in the country, but it is ENCOURAGING to remember that the election thieves form a small part of the total vote.

Thanks to the foresight of the wise men who established the government, it is a government by the people.

The majority does not rule, but that is the majority's fault. The majority CAN rule. Under our form of government, the majority can elect whom it pleases, make what laws it pleases and enforce those laws to the letter.

That majority is honest. It is composed of men who may NOW be Republicans or Democrats, but who some day will awaken to the fact that both the Republican and Democratic parties are run not for the people, but for the purpose of affording protection to portly and gentlemanly thieves who want to profit by the golden thing called special privilege.

Events which took place four years ago made the majority pretty tired of the Democratic party then, as now, controlled like the Interborough-Metropolitan company in New York or the Tobacco Trust by Mr. Thomas F. Ryan, assisted by Mr. August Belmont.

But when you decide to act for yourself, to oppose corruption consistently and unswervingly, ALL the crooks, big and little, will be on the other side, and you will vastly outnumber them if you act with all the honest men.

Out of the ranks of Republicans and Democrats is growing a great third party—a party of honesty and good government. It is that party that will put a way to get what it wants and which the courts never dare to drive the repeater from the polls and lock him up in jail, to destroy the occupation of the vote-trafficking boss, and to take from employer the profitable special privilege.

It will be a party of the people, and as long as this government endures the people will have a way to assert and to obtain their rights.

Had as is the dreadful business of which Mr. Russell has written so powerfully, it can be made an end of, and an end will be made of it when the majority realizes that it no longer rules this country, and takes measures to restore itself to the power the father intended that it should always exercise.

TEDDY-B AND TEDDY-G, THE BEAR DETECTIVES.

No. XI.—The Mystery of the White Rose.

Verses by Seymour Eaton. Drawings by C. H. Twelvetrees.

Copyright, 1908, by Seymour Eaton.

THE Teddy Bears, with gun and horn,
Went off through woods and fields of corn
In search of game; to spend the day
From morn till night in a sporting way.
They had been busy day and night
Helping children, main and might
And solving problems old and new
And running down each mystery clue
And now were tired and wanted fun
For at least a day with horn and gun.
They took this tramp, the two alone,
To get away from mail and phone
They left a note stuck with a tack,
Which simply said: "We won't be back."

The bears were resting; the day was hot
The nook they chose was a shady spot,
When a voice which sounded gruff and queer
Startled them both, it seemed so near
"Attention, Teddy Bears!" it said,
"A pretty maiden I would wed,
But here I am an ugly beast,
Changed in a twinkle at a feast;
A fairy did it, whom no one knows;
She sent her message through a rose

Before the bears could speak or run
Or climb a tree or use a gun,
There stood in front a monster big,
Not lion or tiger, bear or pig,
But the four combined in look and size
In everything but mouth and eyes,
And these had kindly smile and charm
And proved that he would do no harm.
For TEDDY-B well understood
That when eyes and mouth are frank and good
The heart is right and purpose square
In man or beast or anywhere.
"I know your business," the beast began
"You're solving mysteries the best you can
And I have come, as you may guess,
To get your help in an awful mess.
For I'm a prince, and this beast you see
Was made by a fairy; it isn't me."

"Tell us your story," said TEDDY-B
"And let us solve your mystery,
To make the change and do it quick
From beast to prince is an easy trick
If you'll be frank and true," he said
"And name the girl you wish to wed

Said TEDDY-G in a whisper low
"Let's say good-day to the prince and go
This fairy story, to say the least,
Doesn't seem to fit such an ugly beast"

But things looked interest to TEDDY-B.
"We'll hear his story through," said he.

Mr. Beast began. "A merchant old
With loads of goods and heaps of gold
And daughters three lost all his wealth
And home and lands and friends and health
His eldest girls are sour and cross,
Because their father suffered loss;
But one, the youngest, the father's pride,
Is ever faithful by his side;

*"The Teddy Bears, with gun and horn.
Went off through woods and fields of corn."*

*"'Get on my back,' the beast replied,
And on they jumped, and off he hied."*

*"TEDDY-G just lost to her his heart
And said nice things and acted smart."*

The prettiest girl in all the land:
Her name is Beauty; her heart and hand
I tried to win. I met her since
I changed to beast and not as prince.
The Beast then pranced and switched his tail
And said, 'If you two fellows fail
To solve this riddle quick for me
Some serious trouble here you'll see.
I'll catch that fairy when she calls
And have you bears changed into dolls."

So then went on. "This merchant poor
Went out one day across the moor
In an awful storm and lost his way
Till he found my castle late that day.
My servants gave him clothes, the best,
And food and drink and a place to rest.
Next morning early he started back.
And in my garden crossed my track.
I hid in bushes to take a peep,
And saw him pluck a rose to keep.

This made me crosser than a bear,
And I nearly killed him then and there.
The rose, he said, was for his child.
His pretty daughter, sweet and mild."

"I know the rest," said TEDDY-B;
"You said that you would let him free
On one condition, and it was this,
That you should have the pretty miss,
The daughter brought, you made her stay,
While the poor old man you sent away;
And she's been with you ever since,
But she doesn't know that you're a prince.

"I love Miss Beauty," said Mr. Beast,
"But she doesn't care for me the least,
And what I want you bears to do
Is to make that fairy help me through."

"Take us at once," said TEDDY-B,
"Where we this pretty girl can see,
And all these flowers of which you speak,
And there this fairy we shall seek."

"Get on my back," the beast replied
And on they jumped, and off he hied
Over hill and vale, through wood and corn,
Each Teddy Bear with tooting horn
And swinging gun and jolly face,
Enjoying the sport and rapid pace.

They landed safe and Miss Beauty met.
The kind of girl bears don't forget;
A face so good and a smile so sweet,
And clothes so cute from head to feet,
TEDDY-G just lost to her his heart
And said nice things and acted smart
Till Mr. Beast switched round his tail
And growled so queer it made him quail.

But TEDDY-B with eye and nose
Soon found the purest, whitest rose.
And this he held close to his ear,
The fairy's little voice to hear.
He listened long and smelled awhile.
Then on his face was seen a smile,
And thus he spoke. "Miss Beauty, please,
You pluck a rose; take one of these,
And give the rose to Mr. Beast,
Then shut your eyes and face the East."
When this she'd done then TEDDY-B
Said, "Now turn round and look and see."

Mr. Beast had gone, a Prince was there;
The change was made by a Teddy Bear;
He did it quick and he did it well
With a fairy's help and a rose to smell.
On the following day at the wedding feast
Miss Beauty sat, but not the beast,
For in his place and ever since
Sits by her side this noble Prince;
And now when trouble comes or cares
They always send for the Teddy Bears.

Col. Gaston Bordeverry is the champion rifle and pistol shot of the world. The young woman who assists him may or may not be the most courageous person alive. You must decide that after you see her stand motionless while the colonel shoots all the buttons off her gown until it drops at her feet. Col. Bordeverry also plays a piano by shooting at the keys. He also—well, you won't regret standing in line at the Box Office—after you have seen him.

But you are going to laugh yourself sore. Who will make you do it? Clarence Wilbur and his Ten Funny Folks in one combination. You've got to laugh at Wilbur and his comics, so kicker

Then—

Will Mcart will have something to say. Remember Macart? Oh, you'll remember him after you hear him.

Ever see Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane in "Am I Your Husband?" Then—you've got another one coming.

Ever sing "Can't You See I'm Lonely?" Yes! Well, Armstrong & Clark wrote it and others just as good. They're here. Boston boys, too.

Remember those four fellows who sang "Waiting at the Church?" All four of 'em were waiting, and they had a church. Now you're on. Americus Comedy Four. You're laughing already.

The Zanettos! That's right, the Japs, who catch on a fork vegetables thrown from the audience. Clever, eh? and funny. Of course you guess.

And the Five Spiller Musical Humpers. Has that got you guessing? Well, it's all right.

O'MEARA PREPARES BIG POLICE SHIFT

Wholesale Promotions and Pensioning of Superiors Being Planned.

SLATES BEING MADE UP

One, and probably two captains of police, may be retired on pension of half pay, amounting to $1,250 a year each, tonight or else new captains, one or two new lieutenants and nine or ten new sergeants, may be made. Commissioner O'Meara declares that one way...

A large number of the patrolmen, sergeants and lieutenants of police will appear before the civil service commissioners on Thursday to take the necessary examinations of their different grades for promotion to the next higher grades. All of the men are reported to have passed creditable examinations.

All of the moves...

Commissioner O'Meara has not announced his personal...

Hunt and Wyman to Go.

Captain [illegible] Lieutenant [illegible], who is being talked of as possible Lieutenant, will not be among those...

Lieutenant [illegible] Hunt, who was retired from active service [illegible] years ago as a result of [illegible] while [illegible] Captain Hunt...

Lieutenant James Driscoll of the Brighton, [illegible] Wyman, who has been [illegible] recommendations to captaincies by the police [illegible] for his distinguished service in the Chelsea fire, is another [illegible] Driscoll.

Captain [illegible] of West Roxbury, who is [illegible] Veteran [illegible] Captain [illegible] under the [illegible] of the [illegible] Lieutenant [illegible] Lieutenant Driscoll's [illegible] Dedham street, [illegible] Boston station [illegible] of Brighton station [illegible] Captain [illegible] & A. Pease, the acting [illegible] Station [illegible] are named for promotions to captaincies and [illegible] of their present [illegible].

Lieutenant of [illegible] A. Jones, who is the engineer of the [illegible] at Quincy, is scheduled for a captaincy.

Boynton for Headquarters

Lieutenant [illegible] E. Boynton, one of the [illegible] men of [illegible] Lieutenant Boynton [illegible] Back Bay [illegible] has for months [illegible] the illness [illegible] since the [illegible] of Inspector [illegible] Hanson, performed [illegible] of a deputy superintendent [illegible] the entire police department [illegible] matters during the [illegible] is expected [illegible] promoted to a captaincy and given charge of the entire force at night.

Because Commissioner O'Meara's shake-up of the entire police force is expected to be in the nature of a complete reorganization, it will not be a surprise if other captains are retired on pensions shortly after his order comes out, probably next week. For this reason Lieutenants [illegible] tones of Station 4, Lagrange street; [illegible] Station 5, Bowdoin square; Michael [illegible] of Station 14, Brighton, and John A. [illegible] of Station 19, Charlestown, who are [illegible] upon good [illegible] Lieutenant [illegible] of his work [illegible] are anticipating promotion.

Sergeants in Line

If all there is [illegible] as they are scheduled at this time, it will require the making of as many new [illegible] of men additional to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Lieutenants [illegible] and [illegible] the Captaincies [illegible] to be disposed of [illegible] The [illegible] of the [illegible] of the new sergeants to fill the vacancies caused by promotions of other sergeants to lieutenancies.

The sergeants who have some hope for promotion, having been made personal inspection at headquarters, are Jeremiah Sullivan and J. W. Sullivan of the Hanover street station, John Dobbyn and P. F. Riley of the Court square station, [illegible] Woodman and C. F. Reagan of the Bowdoin square station, G. H. Gunning and H. Hall of the Lagrange street station, William J. Mansfield, John Fox, Michael Goff of the West End, Thomas Sullivan, James F. Sharp of Dorchester, South Boston, Roxbury, West Roxbury and Brighton stations, John [illegible] man of the Blue Hill avenue station, Patrick [illegible] A. Cassidy and [illegible] Thomas F. [illegible] of Chelsea.

The patrolmen [illegible] promotion to sergeants are [illegible]

Patrolmen from every district in the city are numbered among [illegible] candidates, but Harry F. Harris of station 2, Court square, [illegible] Frank L. Merrill of station 1, Scollay square; [illegible] Mitchell of station 4, Lagrange street; Thomas Hurley, [illegible] John [illegible] special officer [illegible] Riley of [illegible] Kilday of station [illegible] and Joseph [illegible] are [illegible] mention [illegible] regarded as [illegible]

MINOT, MORRISON OPPOSED BY UNIONS

Organized Labor Backs Appeal for Rejection of Mayor's Nominations On "Open Shop"

The opposition [illegible] of Ward 20 as superintendent of [illegible] and George W. Morrison [illegible] superintendent of [illegible] will meet with strong opposition [illegible] come before the [illegible] meeting of the board of [illegible] Thursday, it was [illegible]

At least one Republican Alderman, George P. Anderson, will, unless he changes his mind before the meeting, vote against Minot's confirmation, although he will vote for Morrison. Alderman H. Clark, Democrat, is opposed, at least to the reappointment of Minot.

The deadlock in the Board of Aldermen over the election of a city clerk will continue at to-morrow's meeting, it is believed, although some expect that Alderman James P. Timilty, who became the chairmanship deadlock, may [illegible] as a city clerk by [illegible] Assistant City Clerk John T. Price, who has the solid vote of the six Republicans. All kinds of deals were the city clerkship are rife and John T. HENRY SIEGEL CO'S 3RD ANNUAL FEBRUARY FURNITURE SALE

WASHINGTON and ESSEX STS., BOSTON — WASHINGTON and ESSEX STS., BOSTON

Sample Lines of Four Manufacturers at 40c on the Dollar
Surplus Stocks of Seven Manufacturers at 50c on the Dollar
Orders Executed During the Dull Season at 60c on the Dollar
Odd Lots Bought Here and There at 50c on the Dollar

Average Saving 40% or Almost ½ on $100 Worth of Furniture for every $60 you spend.

Ten Dollars' Worth of Furniture for	$6.00
One Hundred Dollars' Worth for	$60.00
One Thousand Dollars' Worth for	$600.00
Ten Thousand Dollars' Worth for	$6000.00

Saving 15 per cent. greater than last February when we won the laurels for the greatest furniture bargains ever offered up to that time. Hotels and families alike will be interested, for, whether you buy one small piece or enough to furnish a great city or summer hotel, there is no other opportunity like this.

Great Furniture manufacturers do not fool and bother with small or medium purchasers when the time comes to dispose of their surplus stock or sample lines. Their object in selling at a loss is to get rid quick of their stocks and turn them into money. So they snap up the offers of the largest purchasers and make one sweeping clearing at the whole business.

The Siegel stores are the largest retailers of fine furniture in America—therefore, of course, the largest purchasers. We buy for four big stores where competitors buy for one. The result may be seen tomorrow, when the largest crowd ever gathered at one time in a Boston furniture department may be seen on our fourth floor.

Every piece of furniture we sell is accompanied by the same guarantee that goes with furniture bought from exclusive furniture stores at full regular prices.

Our Furniture Dept. is 75,000 square feet "big"—covering the entire fourth floor of this mammoth, magnificent, fireproof, conveniently located building.

the American shortly after his arrival in the harbor yesterday afternoon, said: "We left Pernambuco for St. John's December 21. We had good weather the first two weeks, and then it began to get rough. On the 14th of January we struck a severe gale, and [illegible] we discovered our vessel was leaking [illegible] increased during the night.

"We had set our pumps to work [illegible] the water which was fast [illegible] [illegible] for ballast, as we had no [illegible] began clogging the pumps. [illegible] [illegible] tried to shift the pumps [illegible] of the deck, but this was impossible, as they were frozen [illegible] not be moved.

Keep Craft Afloat by Buckets.

"It was evident the [illegible] remaining for us to do was to work with buckets. The men labored desperately night and day with these. It was [illegible] and, as the waves washed over us, they seemed to freeze the moment they struck.

"We were all coated with ice and our [illegible] frostbitten. Our sufferings [illegible] [illegible]

"Every man worked constantly. There was no time to rest. [illegible] [illegible] weather and the wind [illegible] we would reach [illegible] in a [illegible]

"It was an extremely dangerous undertaking, one which we [illegible] have [illegible] of taking unless lives were in [illegible]

"When Friday's gale struck us we were about [illegible] miles off Boston Light and, knowing that we could not make port, we [illegible] the wind subside."

FEEL ANXIETY FOR BIG LINERS BECAUSE OF TERRIFIC SEA STORMS

No word has been received of the long overdue steamship Winifred which should have reached this port ten days ago, and in view of the hurricanes reported by incoming ships some anxiety is felt for her safety.

The Winifred sailed from Fowey, England, January 1, with a cargo of 3,000 tons [illegible] for the rough weather [illegible] have encountered, if [illegible] days ago, and it is feared that her machinery has broken down and that she may be drifting helplessly about in the North Atlantic.

The Winifred is owned by the Furness [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Captain Masters said he thought only the [illegible] progress, he lay the ship to for several hours until it abated.

WESTON WALKING TO CHICAGO IN 1867

EDWARD PAYSON WESTON TODAY

First Walk Under the Direction of the Veteran next Saturday.

COMING to Boston to show the boys and the young men how to walk, to impart to them valuable lessons he learned while making his record breaking trip from Portland to Boston, Edward Payson West a sends word to them to organize

He has [illegible] New York, where the boys organized [illegible] walking clubs walked under his careful inspection and I [illegible] they are pointed out as examples of healthy development. Mr Weston believes that he will be even more successful in Boston and that several thousand boys will come out for the first walk, which will be held next Saturday afternoon

In Monday's [illegible] ning American will be published the route and Mr Weston's plans for caring for the boys from start to finish

Bob Fitzsimmons Will Be a Starter.

Today Robert Fitzsimmons, a champion of the ring as Weston champion of pedestrianism, approves of the plan as one which will benefit the health of every boy who takes part in it, announces that he will [illegible] the road [illegible] on Saturday and will walk a distance with the boys He believes in walking as one of the best exercises than or boxing [illegible]

Others will be there to [illegible] a cheer on their way [illegible] will be a band to lead the procession The boy who does n't get a W button and turn out will be [illegible]

In his instructions preparing for the walk, which should be read very carefully, Mr Weston asks the schoolboys to organize in clubs and come prepared to walk in a body To these organized bodies he gives the head of the line

The boys of New York organized and took the first walk about each strong The same boys walked the next week only more of them turned out

This is the first photograph printed in the East of Barney Joy, the clever Hawaiian left-handed pitcher, who has been signed by the Boston Nationals. Joy has the distinction of being the only native of Uncle Sam's possessions in the Pacific who has made such a mark on the diamond that he is thought worthy of a trial in the big leagues. Last season was his first year in professional baseball. He played with the Pacific Coast League, where he attracted the attention of the Eastern magnates. Joy's ability goes to show how the great national game follows the flag.

Guggenheims Lose Smelters; Northern Pacific's Cash Dividend

By Thomas C. Shotwell.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—It can be stated here on authority last as good and reliable better than official, that the Guggenheims have lost control of American Smelting and Refining Company and that the Northern Pacific dividends will do here an extra cash dividend of 10 per cent.

The announced the interests are in absolute control and they may have the final say as to the management. A merger of Amalgamated and Smelters was a failure. Hence the Selling Company so called means, but does not seem to be reasonable. The cash dividend on Northern Pacific may be declared in time for the week of February, but some of the directors think it may be declared at the regular February meeting, which is later in date.

The Exchange is not in accord with Americanus higher. The Bank of England's statement of its discount rate. The New York Bank statement was not as good as the Street expected. The cash gain is $1,000,000. The $8,000,000 expected will be a commercial bonds from New York City to be the Morgan syndicate and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. for the Metropolitan Railway Co. I did not see Clearings for the week will be reported by February 1 and a detailed bank statement probably will be published from that date.

Cotton was steady, unsettled and wheat was lower.

KING-CROWTHER

Stockholders, Selling at a Profit, Offer Investors Remarkable Opportunity

Investors desiring to possess a high-grade, dividend paying security, at a price which assures them at least 100% or 150% profit within twelve months are likely never to have a better opportunity than that given them at the present time by my plan for the establishment of a market for King Crowther stock. A natural market, its prices fixed by the immutable law of supply and demand.

I advise the purchase of King Crowther stock at any price up to par, $100 per share.

It therefore follows that I especially recommend the purchase of King Crowther stock now, when the general stockholders' confidence is at its height, and desire to take a profit, has caused stockholders of the corporation to offer portions of their holdings, in small quantities at from $75 to $90 a share.

These data and I announced my plan whereby stockholders could sell and investors buy King Crowther stock, at prices naturally resulting of with all necessarily of short selling, wash sales and other fictitious transactions eliminated.

There have been offered for sale 72 shares, at prices ranging from $50 to $80 a share. Bids have been made for 830 shares, at prices ranging from $35 to $79.75 a share.

I have not been an investor. No stockholder is willing to accept any bid thus far made, although there are hundreds of stockholders some of whom I and with $2 for their shares would make a big interest of profit even at such figures as have been quoted by the bidder.

The stock offered for sale from Thursday morning until the close of business yesterday, and the bids made for stock are as follows:

OFFERED FOR SALE:

33 Shares of King-Crowther at	50
2 Shares of King-Crowther at	50
5 Shares of King-Crowther at	51
1 Share of King-Crowther at	55
1 Share of King-Crowther at	55
7 Shares of King-Crowther at	55
6 Shares of King-Crowther at	60
5 Shares of King-Crowther at	70
8 Shares of King-Crowther at	75
8 Shares of King-Crowther at	80

BIDS TO BUY:

50 Shares of King-Crowther at	35
115 Shares of King-Crowther at	35½
80 Shares of King-Crowther at	40
410 Shares of King-Crowther at	50¼
100 Shares of King-Crowther at	50¼
175 Shares of King-Crowther at	50¾

Total shares offered, 72; highest asking price, 80; lowest asking price, 50.

Total shares bid for, 830; highest price bid, 50¾; lowest price bid, 35.

[illegible] market for the [illegible] of King Crowther stock at natural [illegible] to-day should be established, I was paid $25 for [illegible] consideration.

[illegible] opportunity for stockholders [illegible] desired to sell the [illegible] have taken steps to secure a higher [illegible] as low a figure as the market [illegible]

[illegible] deliberately and unemotionally [illegible] market price from day to day for the shares of the King Crowther Corporation.

[illegible] the request of the corporation appointed a committee of four stockholders to whom may be offered shares for the benefit of [illegible] to make the asking price for the [illegible] $75 per share. No option has been delegated to me or anyone else to sell a single share at a lower price than [illegible]

[illegible] I have not and with something of regret [illegible] the assistance of a corporation does not desire [illegible] A can of stock which really deserves [illegible] from week to week upon the law of supply and demand. And it has been said that the law of supply and demand does not bad its full way in the case of King Crowther, due to my consent and [illegible] opposition to the listing of the stock on the Stock Exchange or to its being traded in on [illegible]

[illegible] King Crowther Corporation to understand that I desire [illegible] to make money for the stockholders by advising them to sell. I do not advise any one [illegible] to sell. To-morrow [illegible] I do not advise [illegible] King Crowther stock present or future. All of the necessities [illegible] for the benefit of stockholders and then to [illegible] I congratulate the investors who are able to buy so valuable a security at anything like the price at which it is quoted.

It is to be remembered that there are 1,500 stockholders of King Crowther—that the stock has been sold all the way from $2 a share up to $100 a share—and that more than 1,500 of the stockholders bought their stock at such prices that if they were to sell at $50 they would be making a very substantial profit—to say nothing of having during the past year received in dividends considerably more than $2 a share upon their investment.

As a matter of fact every shareholder has thus far offered for sale at the price at which I have offered a good profit. He has chosen to hold rather than sell at the price at which he could have sold the stock.

Far from advising the sale of King Crowther—and I want to make this extremely plain, to the some stockholders might sell at present quotations and later reproach me for giving unprofitable advice—I advise all persons who now own King Crowther stock to hold it. I firmly believe it to be the best industrial security of which I have knowledge represents a better present or future investment.

During the past year there have been paid by the King Crowther Corporation four cash dividends of $2 a share, a total of $8, and a special stock dividend of $2 a share regarding the right to cancel this stock, distributed on the regular distribution in 1905 by the payment of an extra $2 cash dividend.

I expect to see the dividends increased during the current year which is to be marked by [illegible] development of the company. I expect to see the stock advance materially in price. Therefore I advise its purchase at any price up to $100.

King Crowther Corporation owns nearly 700 producing oil wells in Ohio, Indiana and Texas. It owns and controls 75,000 acres of land in those three States. It owns gas wells, pipe lines, the town of Crowther, Texas, and many other valuable assets. There is issued and actually outstanding approximately $3,000,000 of stock, divided between 2,000 stockholders, whose individual holdings range from one share to 2,000.

The plan which I have adopted to make a firm and natural and fixed market for this stock is, I believe, one that will permanently and definitely attain that result. It is as follows:

All holders of King Crowther stock desiring to sell are advised to bring their certificates to my office or forward them to me by registered mail, indicating the price at which they wish to sell. In every case the price indicated must be a firm one, and I must be accorded the right to sell at the price named within ten days from the receipt of the certificates at my office. Certificates must be endorsed in blank, and witnessed.

Each day, as the certificates are received, they will be advertised publicly and offered for sale at [illegible] as may be asked by the holders therefor, and each day the number of shares bought and sold, and the prices paid for them, together with [illegible] will be published [illegible] will be quoted in advertisements which I shall print.

To reimburse me for the advertising and for [illegible] expenses in connection with the buying [illegible] of these shares, I shall charge a special commission of $1 per share which amount must be added to the prices selling, and which will be deducted from the amount entering the transaction is being [illegible]

All stock sent me to be sold will be listed promptly within the hour of its receipt and will be offered for sale first person or persons bidding the best price therefor the same. Should there be bids for a [illegible] at a higher price than the same may be offered [illegible] the succeeding such bid will be awarded the [illegible] at which it may be offered [illegible] no case will anyone be called upon to sell [illegible] for stock than the price asked by the holders of the stock.

[illegible] should there be in hand bids for stock at $50 per share, and after they have been received bids should be made to sell at $50, the parties bidding $50 per share would be called the stock offered at $50, and be required to pay only the cash [illegible]

All bids must be accompanied by remittance to cover the same.

I wish to make it clear, again that the King Crowther Corporation is in no way interested in this campaign which is being conducted by me in my personal business capacity.

I have established this market in the interest of stockholders who wish to sell and investors who wish to buy, to enable the one to receive the highest price he [illegible] and the other to get the lowest. As the person from day to day will be fixed by the natural market there can be no manipulation—no short selling—no such sales or fictitious transactions.

Those stockholders who desire to sell to send me their certificates and offers—investors who wish to call me their bids and accompanying remittances.

Address all communications to me personally and make all remittances payable to my order.

A Few Facts About the Property

The company is capitalized at $3,000,000, the shares having a par value of $1. They are full paid and non-assessable. There are 1,400,000 shares in the treasury.

This company has taken over all the real estate and personal property formerly owned by the Geyser Mining & Milling Co. of Silver Cliff, Custer County, Colorado.

This valuable property, on which over $1,450,000 has been already spent, consists of 18 patented mining claims.

The equipment consists of a shaft house, which is second only to the one installed at the Calumet & Hecla mine, making possible operations to a depth of 5000 feet, and all the buildings, machinery, engines and apparatus necessary for the operation of the property at its full capacity.

The development work has been done through a three compartment shaft which has been sunk to a depth of 2650 feet and various drifts and cross cuts aggregating 15,000 feet.

According to a survey made by the government, these workings are on a true fissure vein and on the same belt as the Cripple Creek mines.

When the old company was forced to cease operations on account of litigation the primary rock had just been encountered at the 2650 foot level, and a decided change in the formation was noted.

The assays made of the ore found in this primary rock showed values of from $17 to $20 per ton in gold, besides the silver values.

The ore encountered in the drift workings is all high grade silver and lead, and the shipments made in the sinking of the shaft alone netted the company over $350,000 with values of from $50 to $748 per ton.

One shipment of 39½ tons netted the company $29,570, while the highest streak on the 2200 foot level of the pay chute averaged 23,589 ounces silver.

The general average from the 1800 to the 2400 foot level was 3636 ounces silver per ton.

The old company was badly handicapped by the lack of transportation facilities, the nearest railroad being 30 miles away. This trouble has been overcome, as there is at the present time rail connection within one mile of the ore house, and a spur is contemplated direct to the ore bins.

The shaft is now being unwatered preparatory to sinking the same to the 3000 foot level. Shipments will begin from the upper workings at the earliest possible date.

This will enable the company to work in the primary rock, and as this rock already shows high values in gold besides the high average in silver, it will be but a short time before the company will be on a paying basis. Another source of income will be through the leases made on the property at 50%, net. Several applications are now in hand.

These are the main facts regarding this wonderful property. In offering the stock at the limited price of 25 cents a share an opportunity is given the public to invest in a mine—not a prospect—and one which will within a very short time become one of the big dividend payers of the West.

No better opportunity was ever offered to investors. If you wish to take advantage of it send your orders to your brokers at once as the trading will begin tomorrow morning on the Boston Curb.

SISTERS REUNITED BY BUREAU TRACER

Readers of the American Clear Up Mystery of Long, Anxious Years.

The work of the Bureau for Tracing Lost Friends of the Boston American, two cases of which were published a short time ago, have been reunited. They are Mrs. Ida Grenier of No. 8 Andrew street, Lynn, and Stella Grenier of Hallow St.

Some years ago the Grenier sisters were taken from Mr. Anna's custody in Worcester and adopted by different families. For a time after each parted from the other. Then the mother of Mrs. Grenier died, and Stella Grenier, who was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Wellington of Lynn, while the other parents remained in Lynn.

Tells Gratitude in Letter.

After many years of efforts to locate her sister, Mrs. Grenier sent word to the Lost Friends of the Sunday American, and Miss Stella Grenier received the communication a week ago today. She immediately wrote the following letter to Mrs. Grenier:

NORDICA ABOUT TO WED MILLIONAIRE OPERA 'ANGEL,' SAY FRIENDS.

Famous American Songbird's Name Linked With That of George W. Young.

IS SPONSOR OF HER TROUPE

Opera Star Leaves Company at Chicago for Mysterious Trip to New York.

SILENT AS TO HER PLANS.

Long Considered as Cause of Divorce of Her Prospective Third Husband.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Is Madame Lillian Nordica, America's most brilliant star in the nation's operatic firmament, about to contract her third marriage

Friends say she is; relatives say she isn't.

Madame Nordica comfortable in her private compartments aboard the Twentieth Century limited, speeding toward New York, maintains a discreet silence.

George Washington Young, but two weeks ago divorced from his first wife, one time president of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, head of the banking house of George W. Young & Co., of New York, and a member of the exclusive clubs of the East, is the prospective groom whom Dame Rumor insists Madame Nordica is about to promise to love, honor and obey.

Cause of Divorce.

The friendship of Mme. Nordica for Mrs. Henrietta Young dates back several years. At the time they met Young was married to Natalie B. Fay. Friendship for the singer, it is said, ripened into love, and before many months passed the Youngs had agreed to separate.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Young brought suit against her husband, charging him with desertion. Er decree brought out in the open of the divorce suit divulged the fact that the married life of the Youngs had been unhappy.

The cost of running their separate establishments during the time of the separation was $10,000 a year, was the declaration made by Mrs. Young when she completed the witness stand.

No mention of Mme. Nordica's name was made in the divorce proceedings. Immediately after the hearing Young was asked by a New York reporter whether or not he would marry Mme. Nordica. The divorce decree had not yet been granted.

Sponsor for Her Company.

"I am still a married man," was his only reply.

Young, it is declared, is sponsor for the financial end of the San Carlo Opera Company, with which Mme. Nordica has been traveling about the country. The Eastern millionaire, it is said, has backed her heavily in other ventures in which she exhibited a passing interest.

Friends of Mr. Young declare that the banker has been insistent that the singer marry him shortly after the divorce decree in favor of Mrs. Young had been granted.

The banker, it is said, fearing that scandal might attach to so hasty a wedding, pleaded further time, but Madame Nordica has repeatedly urged the famous diva to visit New York.

To-day, after receiving a telegram shortly past 2 p.m., Nordica ordered her maid to hastily pack her trunks, dispatched a number of telegrams and left word that was not to be disturbed. Shortly after dusk a travelling footman, carrying a steamer trunk, drove from compartment, en route for the East.

Troupe Excited

The air of suppressed excitement carried in general by attaches of the opera company gives evidence of a worried condition.

Friends, her last appearance with the company, who carried the role of Violetta in Verdi's La Traviata, the role in which she made her debut in Brescia, Italy, in 1894, before the citizens of Nordica, a special car will be attached to the regular train to "Los Angeles."

First Fire in Months at Arlington Burns Post Office Building

Tailor Shop Destroyed; Town Hall and Postoffice Rooms Saved From Threatening Flames.

An explosion of naphtha in the tailoring establishment of M. Tandib on the first floor of the two story wooden post office building in the square in Arlington Centre caused a fierce conflagration at 1 minute past 12 o'clock this morning and called out the entire fire and police departments of several municipalities of the citizens.

It was the first fire which has occurred in the town in many months.

For a time the town hall and the postoffice were threatened, but the prompt work of the fire department under Chief Walter Pierce checked the flames. Chief of Police Urquhart and his entire police force were on hand and they did valiant work keeping the street and keeping the crowd of curious citizens out of the way of the firemen. Several persons who were sleeping in the rooms of the second floor were awakened by the policemen and rushed to safety.

The fire was confined to the tailor shop. The stock and suits were destroyed, causing a loss of about $500.

ALDERMEN OPPOSE MAYOR'S PROJECT

Republicans Object to Curtailing the Powers of This Year's City Council.

Aldermen Brand and Anderson, Republicans, yesterday opposed Mayor Hibbard's plan, as outlined in his bill before the Legislature, to have the City of Boston governed by himself and the Finance Commission. The bill practically makes the City Council, comprising Aldermen and Common Councilmen, a cipher in managing the city for a time.

There are six Republican Aldermen in the Board, and seven of the members were endorsed by the Good Government Association. This, it is claimed, took the Board more of a reform body than the city has known for years. The six Republicans in it were invited to the annual dinner of the Union Boat Club at Young's Hotel last year, at which Brand and Anderson appeared. It was there they criticised the Mayor's bill.

They said that the city council ought to be given a chance to do its work, and could give the Mayor's bill proper consideration if it were passed. If it is not passed, they said, the Mayor will have good reason to complain of the action of the council.

Brand and Anderson opposed the bill when it came before the council. Councilor John D. Long presided. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, ex-Governor John D. Long of Hingham, vice presidents, ex-Governor John L. Bates of Rowe, Col. Fred Ackerman of Newton and Louis A. Frothingham of Boston, William Perry of Boston, H. Clifford Brigham of Milton, James M. Swift of East River, Charles H. Bacon of Springfield and Channing Smith of Leicester, executive committee, President Long, Secretary Ackerman, Frederick W. Dallinger of Cambridge, Alfred Cutler of Belmont, John L. Bermingham of Boston and Henry P. Ripley of Dingham, secretary and treasurer, William P. Garrison of Newton.

FLASH! BANG! FLEE CAR TWICE IN PANIC

Passengers Pile Out in Haste, Terrified by Successive Puffs of Smoke.

E peeled fifteen red cents each I paid on a Boston, Revere and Lynn car in Malden Square in Malden at 10:20 o'clock last night, twice escaping the ears of the 34 passengers. Nobody was even slightly injured, but the apparent hurry was great, but for many minutes and a mile or two everybody on the crowded car felt as if sitting alone was the sort of explosion that Ixmen describe as the blowing out of a gas. There seemed to have been a succession of them.

The first "bang" came when the Lowell bound car had passed Malden Square. This place the sander was all on the right side. Everybody calmly said "one blown out" and settled back.

The car was doing many miles an hour through the suburbs of Felix when smoke puffed up through the floor near the front door.

Then came the panic. Every seat was taken and there were fifteen strap hangers. Conductor No. 657 was taking fares near the doorway, gave the signal for a quick stop. He followed the lead of the passengers at the door and giving the motorman verbal order.

The passengers piled out.

Conductor 657 saw that everything was right, used his test and swore his passengers back.

The car started—there was another flash. Everybody got out again and only more Number 657 blamewed them back. So far as Malden could find out, the rest of the journey to Lowell was without incident.

VANDERLIP TO HEAD NATIONAL CITY BANK

New York, Jan. 25.—The brief announcement that Frank A. Vanderlip assistant secretary of the treasury under Secretary Gage, had succeeded James Stillman, "temporarily," as chairman of the board of directors of the Union and Southern Pacific railroad companies as well as member of executive committee of those roads, gave Wall Street today an opportunity to speculate on the future of this new recruit to the banking world. It was asserted by men that know that Vanderlip will soon succeed Stillman as president of the National City Bank, the Standard Oil financial institution.

CARDINAL GIBBONS SOUNDS WARNING TO AMERICAN WOMANHOOD.

Points Out the Responsibilities of Those Who Avoid the Duties of Motherhood.

'DESTROY OWN HAPPINESS'

"Very Existence of Nation Depends on Personal Conduct of Each Man and Woman."

THE SIN OF RACE SUICIDE

"The Thought of Women Smoking Too Disgusting to Discuss," He Declares.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. The World prints today the following from Cardinal Gibbons under a Baltimore date line:

"Cardinal Gibbons, at his residence today, gave to the World an authorized interview on the American woman. In answer to a question he said:

"Any woman who instructs her neighbor or friend who is a wife how to avoid the responsibilities of motherhood is taking on great a responsibility, and is committing a deadly sin, as if she became the accomplice of a murderess. In fact this sort of thing is murder of the most cowardly kind.

"I doubt many women thoughtlessly discuss this subject with one another. It is not unusual, in all probability, for a wife women to advise their younger sisters, who are about to assume the relations of wifehood, not to bring children into the world for a few years, but to have a good time and travel. This instruction has been given the young wife is prejudice without the knowledge of the husband.

Destroys Her Own Happiness.

"Such a wife will, in time, inevitably destroy her own happiness, as well has that of her husband. She may think she is enjoying herself, during the continuance of certain indiscretions and disappointments, but soon to fast taste some of the American women will present to her the really good time will never come to a wife who establishes herself among this class of women of the day. Absolutely

The social evil, if I use the term in a more general sense than it is usually applied, is a far greater evil in its results for than is generally believed. It is not that the lower forms of the social evil, including crime in drinking and other evils, have got hand in hand. The social evil is one of the worst forms of sin, subject to handle that it seems impossible to educate the people toward righteous living in this regard.

"We can educate regarding tuberculosis, and do do so, but the people must for ab solute safety begin to look upon this most important of all questions from the standpoint of sin and no more than evil. [illegible] violation of the moral principles, even the personal comfort of one's self and the happiness of others. The responsibilities of neither can shirk. Science, Bible, the pulpit of our people must take the place of frivolous tendencies. If the people refuse to thrive and continue to be happy there is no influence among mortals so powerful for good or evil as the relation between the sexes.

The Sin of Race Suicide.

"Does the Catholic church, through the priesthood, instruct men and women that it is their duty to rear families?" was asked.

"Most [illegible] many ways [illegible] No woman who attempts to [illegible] the law of nature and of God can be a true [illegible] in the eyes of [illegible] If any man or woman is responsible for the [illegible] of souls to whom we commonly call [illegible] that man or woman is [illegible] of the confessional.

"Confession is one of the three 'acts of the penitent'—contrition, confession and satisfaction. [illegible] must be supplied, confess each and every mortal sin, in thought, word or deed, and with sufficient contrition and a sincere purpose of amendment. The people cannot be instructed in this delicate subject, they must be confessed with faith in Him, who implies a willingness to be guided by Him and He Lord.

Smoking by Women.

"Your Eminence, what do you think of the city ordinance recently passed prohibiting women from smoking?"

"I think it very disgusting to discuss, so I must be excused from having an opinion to give upon such a subject."

"Your Eminence, what do you think of the Carnegie peace movement?"

"The world is governed more by ideals than it is by facts. Influenced again by fitting concrete models than by abstract principles. Virtue

"Woman is the pattern of virtue, alike to man, both of [illegible] and gentler qualities. She exhibits true virginal modesty becoming of the spouse and the untiring devotion of motherhood. Man is quite ordinary to hear of [illegible] gentlemen, daughters of some of our chief executives, are indeed [illegible] Dr. Mary Walker's exceptional attire, discarding the restrictions which annoy their audiences. Is it any wonder that a feeling of sadness creeps over one that such things should be?

To Debar, Not to Degrade.

"To debar women from such pursuits is not to degrade her. To restrict her field of action to the gentler avocations of life is not to fetter her aspirations after the higher and the better. It is, on the contrary, to secure to her not 'equal rights,' but [illegible] rights, those superlative rights that cannot fail to endow her with a sacred influence in her own proper sphere, for as soon as woman trenches on the domain of man she must not be surprised to find that the reverence once accorded her has been in part or wholly withdrawn."

Do you want your boy to be a President of the United States—a Senator or a great capitalist?

Early life influence means everything to the child. You should employ an intelligent, sweet-tempered, happy nursemaid. One who delights in her work of caring for your children. A maid that will teach obedience by loving attention. Be sure that your nursemaid has the natural mother instinct.

Such maids advertise for situations, or follow the Help Wanted columns of the American every day.

If you want this kind of a maid, read the want pages in the American to-day.

MONEY TO LOAN.

Set solid, 12½c. per line; displayed, 20c. per line.

Half Per Cent a Month

Is all the interest we charge—Absolutely the lowest rate charged on Furniture or Piano Loans by any money-lender anywhere. If you must borrow money, your American common sense will bring you here. When you get money from us $10 costs 5c. a month; $25 costs 12½c. a month; $50 costs 25c. a month. A $50 accommodation, repaid $1 a week, will cost you $1.50 for the year, absolutely nothing more for anything, if you keep your agreement. If you don't keep it, the cost will be more—but even then, far, far less, than if you borrow money from the high price money-lenders, and it cannot, under any circumstances, cost you any more than if you borrow elsewhere at legal rates. We loan on Furniture or Pianos. We charge only half per cent a month interest. All others charge two to forty times as much interest or discount. We charge nothing for "expense." Four others charge $2, $3, $5 or $10 for "expense." Four private offices, insuring privacy. Our customers make all payments at a bank—saving embarrassment of going to a Loan Office weekly. We serve more customers and serve worthy borrowers far better, than any other money-lender in Massachusetts. May we serve you? Hours: 8.30 A.M. to 6.30 P.M. Wed. and Sat. till Nine P.M. THERE IS NO REASON

WHY an individual should not borrow money in case of need, and

THERE IS NO REASON

in borrowing when no need exists. Governments, states, municipalities, firms and corporations borrow in times of need. Our customers come to us when funds are needed beyond their ability to raise in other ways. Our advice is often of value. We aim to help, not to hinder, and in ten years of business we have never knowingly made a loan the payment of which would work a hardship to the borrower. OLD COLONY RUM

Rum is one of our leaders, which is growing in demand every month. It is of such a distinctive flavor that people who like a fine rum will have it and no substitute. It is of such a character that we have made arrangements for the United States with a certain distiller in the West Indies, famous for the fine rums he produces in small lots. We have only a limited supply of this brand left, but are getting more in shortly. We warrant it to be 8 years old. It has lain in the wood 8 years before being bottled. We sell

DON'T THROW YOUR MONEY INTO THE MAW OF THE PIANO TRUST

For 2 years we have been showing the people of New England that there is no necessity of paying the exorbitant prices demanded by the Piano Trust.

We are in no Trust or Combination of any kind. The low prices we quote on the best grades of pianos easily proves that to any sensible person. Before Feb. 1st we will sell every piano on our sacrifice floor. Nearly every make piano, new or used, can be found here, and at a price which means no profit to us and a big loss to the original private or trade owners.

$5 Down—$1 a Week

The gilded piano stores, with their costly appointments, their high-salaried sales agents, their sellers' commissions, etc., are no place for the economical piano buyer to go. Take the trouble to look around a little, go up where the rents are not so high and buy your piano right.

Geraldine Farrar's Latest and Favorite Photograph

This portrait of the Melrose songbird was taken during her recent triumphs at Berlin. In the German capital she scored a remarkable success, critics, royalty and populace uniting in singing her praises.

GERALDINE FARRAR

GERALDINE FARRAR TO SING IN MELROSE

Famous Prima Donna Counts Hours Until She Appears in Home Town.

Geraldine Farrar, Greater Boston's beautiful songbird and grand opera star, is counting the hours now until she is to come to Boston and sing among the friends of her childhood at the Melrose City Hall, next Tuesday night.

The former Melrose girl, daughter of Sydney Farrar, the astronomer, and of the old Pickering family, is the only one worry to distract her attention from the coming event. She has to sing "Home, Sweet Home" at the end of the concert, and when she appears before her old friends, she wants to sing it with the home feeling on, but she declared Miss Farrar, in her suite at the Boston Sunday Advertiser her sum, "I'll continue to live on in my apartment at the Hotel Savoyard. You know I am to be married when I sing before all my old friends since I went abroad, and—and—nothing else, Miss Farrar.

"It seems I have come Boston recently, and I've had very pleasant memories of the time that I so excited there and I am going to sing in Symphony Hall. I've always before I sing Melrose and City Hall. But I look upon this as Melrose's opera, while more like a concert and with all my old friends.

"There, I've said nothing more, though," declared the beautiful singer. "It is what I could wear. You know it seems like a trivial thing to worry about, but I have given it more thought than you can imagine. Besides, you're a man and can't understand that.

"You see, it's like this. A whole lot of new gowns will think that I ought to be dressed in the simple and artistic way while others insist on the most elaborate gowns and jewels and all that sort of thing. I don't care much for the latter myself, and they are kept locked up before most of the time.

"I hope that everybody that wants to and can hear me will be able to get a seat in the City Hall. Everybody has been most kind and I hope no one will be disappointed. Our old girl friend, Annie Lee, and offered me her home to stay in when I came, and I am glad to be near the old place. I had to laugh when I got the letter. She spoke in it of the dressing room at the City Hall, which I remember well, and said that everything in it was the same as it was when I sang there at the age of twelve. Even the brush, she said she didn't think had been changed.

To Receive on Platform.

"I had to laugh, but at the same time I thought back and tender memories welled up fresh. I felt her that I would dress in the I went to Melrose, by Mrs. Annie Farrar, that Mr. Mayor should receive me for the purpose of leading a reception at the conclusion of the concert. I told her that it is very small, and will hold no more than a dozen people, and that my body to have a chance to meet me and not have to feel slighted.

"I don't know whether I ought to speak of this or not, but I will tell you after a pause, that I was secured to be appointed when I heard of it. I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings, and was surprised and disappointed when I heard that the prices had to be so high. Of course, I had no choice in that, and I can't blame the gentlemen who made the arrangement for me, but I do make a little money, but I hope that anything financial was will be kept out of the affair. It was a matter of sentiment with me, and as I said, it has grieved me to think that the prices were so high. I looked upon it more as a reception than as a concert, and not as a business affair.

Mrs. Farrar will leave New York with a party of friends Sunday afternoon. She will stop at the Hotel Lenox in Boston.

"I'm going to rest Sunday night," she said Monday morning, too, although we shall do a little motoring, as the weather is good and not like this," and she added with a shudder as snow swept past. Then she spoke of Continuing Miss Farrar engagements while in Boston.

"Monday afternoon I'm going to sing at Symphony Hall, and Tuesday I'm going to rest. Tuesday morning we will all stop at the Hotel Lenox in Melrose, Boston.

"I'm going to rest Sunday night," she said Monday morning, too, although we shall do a little motoring, as the weather is good and not like this," and she added with a shudder as snow swept past. Then she spoke of Continuing Miss Farrar engagements while in Boston.

To Visit Melrose Schools.

"Wednesday morning I'm going around visiting the schools in Melrose. I shall enjoy that, especially visiting the high school. I used to school. I'm not going to hurry back to New York and shall spend a week Wednesday night. I've got to be back New York early next week, as I have plenty of things to rest.

"I'm sorry that I was the best of spirits and seemed to enjoy talking about, because I'm going to be in Melrose and see many old friends in Melrose, and the one thing that I dread is coming friends as interviewers.

Miss Farrar is a loyal Boston girl. She takes pride, and her vocabulary is extensive to say the least, when it is applied in a purple gown in the last city of freedom, and when she entered the dressing room but trimmed with roses. Her figure is good to Fritzi Scheff's in the nose, and sometimes. Deep dreaming and big starlike eyes are often conspicuous characteristics that Miss Farrar makes a pleasant exception. Her face is full, her complexion is pale, but fresh, and she looks as if she had just come in from the cool air. Her hair is dark, straight and finely modelled, and her mouth is wide, and of pretty shape.

She has confidence that she will please her friends, and if she doesn't she won't be because she has not tried. She has selected her programme and has included several English songs which she hopes will please her audience.

HISGEN TO SPEAK AT LEAGUE BANQUET

New York County Committee to Give Lincoln Dinner in Hotel Knickerbocker.

New York, Jan. 25.—The list of speakers for the Lincoln dinner to be given by the New York County Committee of the Independence League on February 12 is now practically complete. It presents an array of orators of national reputation, which is highly gratifying to the committee, and which should prove interesting and instructive entertainment for the guests.

Acceptances have already been received from John Temple Graves of Atlanta, Ga.; Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, Mo.; Charles A. Walsh, of Iowa; Governor Foss of Massachusetts; Governor Hugh Lynn of Bath, N. Y.; and John A. Mc[illegible] of Albany.

The committee has selected the Hotel Knickerbocker, at Broadway and Forty-second street, as the place for holding the dinner. The banquet room, which is on the second floor, is one of the most beautiful in the country. It is handsomely carved and gold, and the seating is so arranged and the acoustics so perfect that every speaking can be distinctly heard from any portion of the room. The committee is doing all it can to obtain this room. The hotel management will make a special effort to provide the best possible service.

W. R. Hearst to Be Guest of Honor

William Randolph Hearst will be the guest of honor and will deliver the chief address. Of the other speakers Frank P. Walsh was the least known to this part of the country up to the time that the national conference of the Independence League was held at Carnegie Hall in December. In this conference Mr. Walsh represented Missouri. He had been asked to deliver an address in the hall, and those at the conference were not expecting any brilliant flashes of oratory from him. His speech on that occasion, nonetheless, was a subject of discussion among those who heard it ever since. Before the end of the conference he had captured the conference to cheers and applause. The audience was unanimous in commending him the equal of such distinguished public speakers as LaFollette and Joseph H. Cockran.

Mr. Graves is too well known as a public speaker to need any introduction to an audience. He is perhaps the greatest in the South than any other public character. Mr. Graves was for years editor of the Atlanta Georgian, and recently became chief editorial writer for the Hearst American.

Hisgen on List of Speakers.

Thomas L. Hisgen was the Independence League candidate for Governor of Massachusetts at the recent election, and his vote was so large that it is generally conceded he would be elected on one of the two big parties of Massachusetts in the ordinary proceedings which the Attorney-General recently decided should be instituted.

Charles A. Walsh is former secretary of the Democratic National Committee. He has been associated with the Independence League ever since its inception. He is at most as well known in New York as in his native State of Iowa.

John T. McDonough and Ruben Robertson were for Independence League candidate for Judges of the Court of Appeals at the recent election in this city. It will be recalled that, though both the old parties were combined against them, the vote was the largest yet achieved by the League.

In addition to those mentioned, there will be a number of local speakers.

ENGLISH HIGH '94 SCHOOLBOYS AGAIN

Revive Memories of Fourteen Years Ago in Song, Verse and Prose.

In song, verse and prose, schoolboys were revived by members of the English High school class of '94 at the fourteenth annual reunion, dinner and election of officers at the Exchange Club last night.

The guests of the evening were these teachers: Henry Sharp, James E. Thomas and Charles F. Lyon.

At 6:30 President Thomas A. Ashley, who presided, called the business meeting to order. Following the business meeting officers for the year were elected, and at 7:30 the dinner was served. Then the program introduced as toastmaster Percy J. Reed.

The class speakers were Attorney Solomon Lowenberg, Edward Hagar, Henry C. Russell, H. Fulton Blake and ex-Councilman William F. Doyle.

Original songs written to the tune of popular airs by Ralph W. Mendell, entertain treasurer, were rendered en chorus, as were also the class song of "Auld Lang Syne." Miss Mary Sullivan sang "Comin' Thro the Rye" and "Annie Laurie," and Miss Amusement circles of Boston. Other songs, bringing to memory of the class, were also sung in chorus, and several piano selections were given.

A vaudeville entertainment by professionals wound up the evening's entertainment.

Those officers were elected: President, George E. Hall; vice-president, ex-Councilman William F. Howes; second vice-president, Benjamin Lindsey; secretary-treasurer, Ralph W. Mendell; toastmaster, Percy J. Burrell; the latter two being re-elected to their respective offices by acclamation.

AT PARTY REVIVE OLD IRISH SONGS

Arrangements are being made by the members of the Boston Gaelic Irish Choral Society for a leap year party and "Feis ceoil" in Dahlgren Hall, South Boston, on Wednesday evening, February 5, which bids fair to eclipse any undertaking held under the auspices of the organization.

All the popular Irish airs and songs will be spoken of by eminent Irish-Americans who are identified with the society. The singing chess will be an entertainment which will include the favorite songs of the past.

Another feature of great interest and attraction will be the Irish jig dancing, which will occupy two hours, to be participated in by those who are now the champion steppers of the day, and those who are the old land.

The committee in charge is headed by Michael E. Dwyer, who is assisted by members of the society.

Conservatory Student to Take Part of 'Carmen' at Costume Ball

MISS JESSIE SWARTZ

Some fetching costumes from European wardrobes will be worn by the students of the New England Conservatory of Music Tuesday night, January 28, in Symphony Hall, at the costume carnival given the students by the Alumni Association.

One of the most interesting costumes will be that of "Carmen," which will be worn by Miss Jessie Swartz, a pupil of Mme. Whose home is in Albany, N. Y. Miss Swartz is a contralto, and a petite brunette.

Three prizes will be awarded, one for the most artistic costume, another for the most historical dress of ancient times and another for the most original costume.

One of the surprises will be the costume of Miss Mabel Stanaway, who has devoted much time and ingenuity in its get up.

Miss Gussie Tanit of South Dakota will appear as "Folly." Others of the students will not reveal the costume selected, as they prefer to reserve their selection to the night of the carnival.

Admission to the carnival will be only by card, which none of the general public to that time. It had been intended to hold the carnival in Copley Hall, but the large number who desired to take part made it necessary to select Symphony Hall.

JAPS WILL WIN IN WAR WITH YANKEES, ASSERTS DIPLOMAT

Counsellor of Spanish Embassy at Quirinal Says Conflict Is Inevitable.

London, Jan. 25.—War between the United States and Japan is not only a certainty, according to Don Jose Soler, counsellor for the Spanish embassy at the Quirinal, but final success will reside with Japan. He is the first man to predict the event publicly, although several have intimated privately, that the Mikado's forces would be able to challenge even the Western Empire even as they did over Russia.

Soler was formerly an under secretary of the Spanish legation at Washington and later spent several years as an attache of the legation at Pekin. Not only does he believe that Japan will sweep Evans's fleet from the seas, but he is certain that it will be able to land a mighty army of invasion on the Pacific shore of the United States.

Japs Eager for War.

"To be frank," Soler says, "I think that the opinions expressed in Tokio and the United States as to the outcome of the difficulties between the Japanese and the Americans on the Pacific coast are wholly wrong. The people is largely hysterical. Japanese for their part, with their customary humanity, are trying to avoid the conflict, and the latter, in their turn, are doing their best to conceal their beliefs from the world.

"Many grave disturbances have already occurred in America, especially in California, where the anti-Japanese feeling against the Japanese that it is impossible for them to live there much longer. It is because of this that the Japanese are not anxious to precipitate matters. Japan is not anxious to precipitate matters. Japan is not anxious to precipitate matters. Japan is
